NEW RULES ON GOLF FRAMED

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The special committee of the United States Golf association, sent abroad to confer with the rules of golf committee at St. Andrews not only settled several points up for decision, but also decided on a uniform code of both sides of the Atlantic, it was announced today.

Changes in the rules affect the stymie, the lost ball penalty, amateur and professional definitions and other minor details. The changes take effect September 1, except the standard ball ruling, which will go into effect in May, 1921. The new rules are:

(Professional definition.) One who, after attaining the age of 16, has carried clubs for hire, received any consideration either directly or indirectly for playing or for teaching the game, or for playing in a match or tournament or for a money prize in any tournament. Every application for reinstatement to amateur status will be considered on its merits, but a player may not be reinstated more than once.

Violations of the amateur rule include: Lending one's name or likeness for the advertisement or sale of anything except as a dealer, manufacturer or inventor thereof; or permitting one's name to be advertised or published for pay as the author of books or articles on golf of which one is not actually the author.

There will be the same penalty for lost ball, unplayed ball and out of bounds; in other words, the player must go back to where he played from and lose stroke and distance, and a provisional ball may be played to save time.

The stymie definition states a stymie is laid when both balls are on the putting green and the opponent's ball lies in any position which the player regards as interfering with his line, provided the balls be not within six inches of each other. The rule then provides that if the opponent lay the player a stymie, the player may remove the opponent's ball, the opponent shall then be deemed to have holed in his next stroke. If the golfer playing within the putting green lays himself a stymie the rule does not apply.

The rule regarding the standardized ball requires that the weight of the ball shall not be greater than 1.62 ounces and the size not less than 1.62 inches in diameter.

RAY AND VARDON DIVIDE THEIR MATCH

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 5.—Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, star British golfers, divided their 36 hole exhibition match here today with Emmett French and Bert Lagerblade, Youngstown professionals, each team winning one round one up.

MONTREAL, Aug. 5.—A. C. Boss, Canadian yachting enthusiast, tonight telegraphed J. P. Morgan, commodore of the New York Yacht club, that he would soon receive a challenge to the America's cup from an organized Canadian yacht club—a condition imposed by Mr. Morgan before submitting Mr. Ross' informal challenge to New York Yacht club officials.

COAST LEAGUE'S LIMIT ON 18 PLAYERS TO EXPIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The eighteen limit player date in the Pacific Coast league will expire Sept. 6 instead of Sept. 15 as previously set, it was announced by President Wm. H. McCarthy. After that time clubs will be allowed to hire as many men as they desire, he said.

The change was made on account of closing of the season in smaller clubs to get back players they had loaned out and also would enable trying out new prospects during the rest of the season, giving those men a month or more of class AA baseball.

GOOD SECURITY. (By International News Service.) VALPARAISO, Ind.—Sugar in lieu of cash bond to insure appearance of defendants in court is the latest here. Four bags of sweetening were substituted for a $100 cash bond when a Chicago motor truck driver was haled into court for damaging an automobile in a collision.

PUTS "SLASH" IN TENNIS

New Clay Court Champ Makes Every Drive Spectacular

Out of the Golden Gate country has come another great net star. The native asphalt courts which developed Maurice McLoughlin and William M. Johnston have also contributed Roland Roberts, the 22-year-old new national clay court champion.

The style of all Californians is the same. It is the slashing type, the driving cannonball serve, sacrificing ground to get at the net and put the ball away.

They make the sensational kind of plays that pack the galleries. They furnish the "Babe Ruth" sort of tarballs.

But when they come east Californians invariably find that it is necessary for them to remodel their games. The easterner plays less the spectacular tennis, using what is termed the well-rounded game. The grass courts of the east slow up the speed of the ball that is obtained on the asphalt.

It requires the spirit and speed of youth to play the California brand of tennis.

William Johnston won the national championship when he was but 29 years old.

When he first came out of the golden west his style was similar to Roberts' slashing brand. But he has modified this now. About all he uses of his former California tennis is the speedy forehand drive.

McLoughlin was a short-lived champion, probably because he stuck to the western speed game. But he was a wonder. Every drive was spectacular. The galleries loved his chain-lighting wallop. But when his youth began to slip away from him his game slowed up.

Roberts is not bothered by high bounces. He's rangy and springy. His leaps into the air are one of his big assets. His second serve has just as much on the ball as his first.

Paired with Peck Griffin, the veteran from California, he won the United States championship intercity doubles at Cleveland.

A few weeks ago at Chicago he vanquished Vincent Richards, the boy phenom, for the clay court title.

The new Lochinvar from the west will get his real tests on the grass courts at Forest Hills. On his showing there will rest his chance to break into the "Big Four," the present Davis Cup team, consisting of Johnston, Tilden, Norris and Garland.

The Big Four are en route home after successfully conquering the English and French net acres. They'll compete at Forest Hills. After this tournament the Olympic tennis team will be selected.

"I'm after Williams' or Garland's job," says Roberts. "I've got my eyes focused on Antwerp."

A close-up of the new California star reveals a peculiar contrast. Although he is but 22, his hair is treated with gray. He is always smiling, a good loser, and not the least bit temperamental. Off the courts he is quiet and unassuming.

But in tennis togs he's different. He opens up with his bewildering cannonball drives and spectacular slashing—the typical golden gate brand of tennis.

Roberts has modeled his game after the style of "you can't hit what you can't see"—and has driven himself rapidly to the front in tennis ranks.

BY THE INSIDER

Two outs—the bases loaded, the score stood tie and tie, Gollath stepped up to the plate. With murder in his eye.

They held a consultation. Out round the grassy mound. The advice they gave the pitcher was: "For heaven's sake bear down!"

Gollath poled the horseshin. Far over the garden wall. And ambled round the circuit. Four runs came in—that's all.

The pitcher looked as pale as death. He shook from toe to crown.

"Please tell me, mates," he said, "what do you mean—bear down?"

No. Profess, the ball park is no place for a grammarian.

The way Kid Language cuts up at a ball game is a terrible slam at Noah Webster.

Baseball slang has absorbed but few accredited terms in recent years.

The latest member of the slang household is the phrase, "Bear down and bear down hard."

Batteries: Jones and Walters; Cicotte and Schalk.

NEW TENNIS CHAMPION PLAYS IN POOR FORM

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 5.—Tennis stars of the east and west were successful in the semi-final round matches of the singles on the turf of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club today.

Watson M. Washburn, West Side Tennis club, and Willis F. Davis, San Francisco, won in the men's singles. Washburn defeated Dean Matthey, New York, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Davis unexpectedly conquered Potbury Roberts, San Francisco, 6-3, 6-2. The game of the newly crowned clay court champion was erratic and without any plan of campaign. He made a weak opponent, Davis passed Roberts easily, handled his service 6-1 and by sheer speed chased Roberts to bungle his volleys.

Miss Eleanor Tennant of Los Angeles, and Miss Marion Z. Inderstein, Boston, won in the women's singles semi-finals. She took the measure of Miss Edith Sigourney, Boston, 6-0, 6-2.

Miss Tennant extensively used her chop stroke for short returns and she played ably overhead for kills in the faster rallies.

Miss Inderstein defeated Miss Margaret Grove, New York, 6-1, 6-1.

HUTCHINSON WINS.
CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Jack Hutchinson of Glenview club, Chicago, today won the open golf championship, of the Western Golf association at Olympia fields with 296 strokes for 72 holes, just one stroke under the score of Barnes of St. Louis, who had the title three years ago.

TATE TAKES 'EM.
NEW YORK.—Big Bill Tate is taking them daily on the jaw while Jack Dempsey shows training camp fans he still has possession of his "Toledo" punch.

"LEGS" TO "STEAKS."
SAN FRANCISCO.—When Catcher Charley Dorman played on a kid team they called him "Legs." His teammates on the Oakland club now call him "Steaks."
